I strongly feel that this matter has gone on long enough and it's time to reach a settlement. Furthermore, I feel that the terms offered by Microsoft are more than adquate and should be accepted by the courts and contesting states. It's time to move forward and have everyone put their efforts in a more fruitful direction, instead of beating this issue endlessly to death. Let's accept Microsoft's offer and let the technology world move forward in other more positive areas. Arlena Neffl
